NOTES FROM CJ

"The first Oregon Pinot Noir that I ever tasted was a Bryan Creek Pinot. I was instantly drawn into the wine, with grapes produced from Volcanic soil. That wine sparked this incredible journey that is McCollum Heritage 91. This is truly a full-circle moment and a thrilling opportunity to introduce you all to our first single vineyard Pinot noir from McCollum Heritage 91!"

TASTING NOTES FROM WINEMAKER, GINA HENNEN

"It's always exciting to release a new wine, but particularly so when it's as special as this one. Opening with lavender, blood orange, raspberry, and anise aromas this wine is expressive and silken with a lovely persistence on the palate. At under 90 cases this is a wine to enjoy with close friends or perhaps just by yourself, because you deserve it."

VINEYARDS

This is a wine that speaks of place. It is drawn from Adelsheim's LIVE-certified Bryan Creek estate vineyard in the Chehalem Mountains, planted on deep volcanic soil. At 700' elevation, it offers violet and lavender aromas, a taut structural core, and a beautiful view of the valley below.
